

- Campus Life

The screenshot shows the MyCSI Campus Life website. The navigation bar includes 'Home', 'Welcome', 'Future Students', 'Registration', 'Money Matters', 'Employee Info', 'Campus Life', and 'My Pages'. The 'Campus Life' section is highlighted with a red box. Below it, there are three main content areas: 'Announcements' (with a red box around the title and a link to 'Grant Opportunities for Student Organizations'), 'Upcoming Activities' (with a red box around the title and a message 'There is no content in this portlet.'), and 'Bulletin Boards' (with a red box around the title and a table of messages). A 'Campus Groups' section is also visible with a red box around the 'My Groups' link. A sidebar on the left contains 'Campus Life Home' with links to 'Announcements', 'Calendar', 'Upcoming Activities', 'Forums', 'Bulletin Boards', and 'Campus Groups'. Below the sidebar is a 'Calendar' for the Academic Year 2007.

- Campus Groups – you can Browse existing campus groups and if your role allows you to, you can create/propose new groups. For each new group, you'll need to provide a group name, category, description, purpose, maximum number of members, whether it should be public (listed in campus Groups directory) or private and whether enrollment into the group will be open with no application required, open by membership application, membership by invitation only, or closed to new members. Proposals for new groups are submitted to the campus Groups administrator.

- Bulletin Boards – this portlet can be used as a discussion area for participants to post their own messages or read messages that may have been posted by others. Replies can be sent via personal messages (email) back to the person who originally posted the message. The highest level of grouping displayed on a bulletin board is called a Category. Each Category can have multiple Topics associated with it. You will be able to view several components:
 - topic (click on it to display all messages related to that topic)
 - within the topic, you will quickly see the various posts as well as the author (click on the header to sort by author), the date of posting, and the number of times the post has been viewed.
- Note: The Bulletin Boards portlet is very similar to the Forums portlet and actually displays some links more relevant to its not too distant cousin.
